Report Also Decries Union-Busting Tactics by 9 Midwest Firms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee reported that "some 10 million dollars in union funds have been either stolen, embezzled or misused" in 15 years by officials of five labor unions.

It listed them as the Teamsters, Bakery Workers, United Textile Workers, Operating Engineers, and Allied Industrial Workers unions.

The report, signed by seven members of the bipartisan committee, drew a sharp dissent from the eighth member.

Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.) appended a report of his own calling the money figures "phony" and assailing what he termed "anti-labor bias" in the majority findings.

McNamara said, "The colorful language and some of the findings in these chapters are more related to the old Police Gazette than to a supposedly objective congressional report."

THE COMMITTEE singled out employers in seven states for what was described as "union busting" tactics. The employers were accused of using labor consultant Nathan Shefferman's services for this purpose.

The report said Shefferman's operations "provide a shocking indictment of the activities of a number of employers."

The firms cited were Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago; Whirlpool Corp., Marion, Ohio, and Clyde, Ohio; Morton Frozen Food Co., Webster City, Iowa; Mennen Co., Morristown, N. J.; J. V. Picher Co., Louisville; Seamproof Co., McAlester, Okla.; All State Insurance Co., a Sears affiliate, Skokie, Ill.; Englander Co., Chicago; and H. P. Wasson Co., Indianapolis.

Young Bob Taft To Aid Legal Battle

COLUMBUS (AP)—State Rep. Robert Taft, son of the late U.S. senator, volunteered last month to represent Mental Health Director Robert A. Haines if he needed to go to court to stay on the state payroll.

Gov. C. William O'Neill disclosed today that Taft made the offer during a call at the Executive Mansion in Columbus. Taft is a Republican representative from Hamilton County.

O'Neill said Taft expressed conviction that he would win any court suit brought by Dr. Haines, the governor related.

He said Taft has not indicated what action he would take or how soon he would move to challenge removal of Dr. Haines from the state payroll by State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

Rhodes last Friday halted Haines' $18,000-a-year salary on the strength of a ruling by the attorney general that the mental health director was appointed illegally. The opinion said O'Neill could not fill a vacancy in the office of director after the Ohio Senate had adjourned its regular session. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said the governor should have made the appointment so the Senate could have considered it as required by law.

Dulles Arguing For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told Congress today a slash in foreign aid spending would cut employment and heighten the recession.

He testified this country would gain little and lose much if, in its drive for domestic public works projects, "we recklessly tear down the very structure of the free world," which provides peace and "the material blessing we now have."

He cited 1955 figures showing some 600,000 jobs were provided by the program for American farmers and workers.

Tunisia Impatient At French Attitude

TUNIS (AP)—Claiming U.S. support, President Habib Bourguiba says Tunisia "can make no further concessions" to France. He promised to go back to the United Nations if the French won't compromise.

"We have done everything possible to meet the French more than halfway," Bourguiba said in summing up his position.

The good offices mission of Robert Murphy, U.S. deputy undersecretary of state, and British diplomat Harold Beeley will return to France Tuesday to negotiate with Premier Felix Gaillard. They will find him fighting for time and U.S. support of the French position in North Africa.

Pressure Rising For Quick Tax Cut Measure

Nixon Says Ike Plans No Decision Until More Data Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pressure for a quick tax cut built up today with new calls from Republican and Democratic members of Congress.

But Vice President Nixon said President Eisenhower is withholding any decision on such additional antirecession measures as tax cuts or increased public works spending until the statistics for March are available.

Official figures on unemployment, production and other economic factors are being compiled now, but won't be in final form until in April.

Nixon said there are some signs of improvement but that "we can't make any final judgment until the figures for March are all in, and we are not prepared to say at this time what March is going to show."

He indicated the administration is concerned that ill-timed tax reduction or increased federal spending might be inflationary.

IF A TAX CUT should be necessary, Nixon said, he would favor a broadly based reduction aimed at creating jobs. Such cuts, he said, should encourage investment as well as increased purchasing power. Thus, he said, he is against any action that would only raise personal income tax exemptions.

Boosting these exemptions was advocated by several senators. There also were proposals for cutting corporate income taxes and excise levies. Some legislators urged stepped-up spending on public works and slum clearance, as well as federal aid for emergency school construction.

Outside the government, the Committee for Economic Development suggested a temporary 20 per cent slash in all personal income taxes if the economy this month and next sags below February levels.

The CED, a privately supported research organization, said such a slash, possibly starting around midyear and lasting for nine months, would pump $7½ billion into the economy.

The organization also recommended short-term public works. Mixed in with the demands for quick tax cuts were go-slow warnings. Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said he did not want to "step into a tax cut which would mean a big deficit." But Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, conceded that "the stimulus of a proper tax cut might be helpful."

Opposing any wait-and-see attitude toward tax reduction, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said the nation is in a serious recession "trembling on the edge of a depression."

SNOWBOUND FOR 36 HOURS — More than 800 men, women and children were trapped about 36 hours in a snowbound Pennsylvania Turnpike restaurant near Morgantown before being rescued by bulldozers and helicopters. Buses and trucks followed a zig-zag trail, cut through 4 feet of snow, on the blocked turnpike to reach the scene. Air Force helicopters evacuated a dozen persons who were ill. The others were taken out in buses and trucks when a lane was cleared. Some of the rescued described the experience as a "thirty-six hour nightmare." Rebels Lose Last Holdings

Indonesians Claim Control of Prapat

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Word from North Sumatra today said Prapat, one of the last reported rebel holdings in the area, was firmly in government hands.

Associated Press correspondent John Griffin telephoned from the war-torn port of Medan that Prapat was "all shot up and there are gutted vehicles in the streets from a battle last Tuesday."

Griffin said Maj. Boyke Mainn Golan, who led the mutiny last week in Medan, had gone into hiding among the remnants of his force among the rubber estates about 100 miles southeast of the key port and rail center. The government retook Medan after a see-saw battle.

Griffin said he had heard of few casualties so far in the North Sumatra fighting except for a continuing battle in the Siantar area. He said Medan was quiet.

Tomorrow Marks Cook School Show

Local housewives and homemakers will wind their way to the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum tomorrow night for the Gasco Food and Better Living Institute, Ohio's biggest traveling cooking school.

Tips and general information galore will be presented to interested women of the kitchen clan. The institute is accented by the most modern devices and methods in operating a successful kitchen.

Sponsored by Ohio Fuel, the Food Institute is being co-sponsored here by the Circleville Publishing Co., and cooperating merchants.

The single night performance will start at 8 p. m. Admission will be free.

THE 1958 Food Institute features not only new foods and new ways to use familiar foods, but it has added attractions, as well, including a generous list of prizes for those attending.

Lecturer Harriett Wolfe will present the food demonstrations, helped—and sometimes hindered in humorous vein—by Manager Bob Eichhorn. Emphasis will be on the aids and added conveniences available through proper use of modern gas appliances.

Title of the performance is "The Lady With the Million-Air"—an entertaining and fast-moving show based on the theme that modern gas appliances and housekeeping methods provide the advantages that ordinarily only a millionaire could expect.

A generous list of prizes will be awarded as a climax to the performance.

Miss Wolfe and Mr. Eichhorn will be assisted in the presentation by Betty Newton, Ohio Fuel's local home service adviser.

Mexican Bullring Star Is Gored

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex. (AP)—One of Mexico's bright young stars of the bullring, Miguel Angel, 28, was in serious condition today after being gored.

Angel, of Mexico City, was impaled in Nogales when a 1,000-pound bull hooked him through the side, the horn narrowly missing his stomach and spine.

Assistants leaped into the arena to divert the animal while Angel was carried to safety. Goring is not new to Angel, who survived what is called one of "Spain's most horrible" bullring injuries in 1954 when a horn was driven through his face.

Fire Sweeps Through Four Fields Here During Weekend

This area was plagued with several grass fires during the weekend. Two of the field blazes were reported Saturday and two yesterday.

The biggest blaze started yesterday at about noon when fire swept a 50-acre field in Jackson Twp. on the Circleville-Commercial Point Road about eight miles northwest of the city. The farm is rented by Cletus Smith.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover said firemen battled the fire for about two hours before bringing it under control. The Harrison Twp. and Williamsport Fire Departments answered the alarm with four tankers and pumpers.

Deputy Hoover said the fire apparently was caused by burning leaves which were carried into the field by strong winds.

THE FIRST Saturday fire came at 2:15 p. m. in a field on the Walnut Creek Pike near Dunkle Road at the Westernbarger farm. Circleville firemen said they were summoned to the Harold Herron farm, Washington Twp., at 3:10 p. m. for a similar blaze.

Firemen said damage was slight in both blazes.

The second Sunday fire was at 11:40 a. m. at the Bosworth farm on the Ringgold - Southern Road in Washington Twp. Flames, confined to a field, caused slight damage firemen said.

Adams County Hills Scoured By Officers

Mother and Daughter Found Shot to Death On Abandoned Farm

WEST UNION (AP)—Law officers moved into the rugged hill country of northern Adams County today, looking for a man they think can tell them a lot about the murder of a woman and her daughter.

Sheriff Eugene Fulton said the hunt is for Sylvanus Daulton, 53-year-old former marshal of Rarden in adjoining Scioto County who was last seen with the women on Friday.

The sheriff said Daulton "lived for some time about 2½ miles from where the two women were found, and he knows this country like a book."

The bodies of Mrs. Florence Hoffer, 51, and her daughter, Margaret Louise, 18, both shot in the head, were found Sunday near a vacant farmhouse.

This touched off a hunt for Daulton who was a stormy figure in the years he was a marshal in Rarden.

The three had been sought since last Friday when Mrs. Hoffer's younger daughter, Orvie, 12, told officers Daulton had driven up to the Hoffer home and forced Mrs. Hoffer into his car after an argument and a scuffle.

INVESTIGATORS said Margaret Louise, who had had a child by Daulton three years ago, apparently got into the car with the two voluntarily.

Daulton was charged with kidnapping in Portsmouth Municipal Court Saturday.

Sheriff Fulton said preliminary investigation indicates Daulton called his wife at Fort Wayne, Ind., Saturday to come and pick up his auto.

Daulton had moved to Indiana about a year ago and worked as a Fort Wayne private detective.

Officials plan to send the bodies of the two women to Cincinnati today for autopsy.

Dr. R. L. Woodyard, Adams County coroner, said both women were shot in the head, but that the older woman had also suffered a broken jaw, apparently before the shooting.

He said the evidence indicates they were shot and killed on the spot where found, and that the weapon, probably fired at long range, was likely bigger than .22 caliber.

The bodies were about 30 feet apart and were found between a house and barn.

Fulton said a youth from Peebles, who had turned into the farmyard Sunday afternoon in a car, discovered the bodies and reported to the sheriff.

Identification of the bodies was confirmed by Mrs. Hoffer's son, Paul, 23.

Suction of Train Kills Woman, 55

DARWIN, Minn. (AP)—A woman hurried across railroad tracks just ahead of a freight train Sunday, but was killed when suction from the train drew her back against a box car.

Coroner Donald E. Dille, said witnesses reported Mrs. Mabel Schultz, 55, of Darwin, was sucked against the side of the train then hurled against a crossing semaphore and light post. She died of a skull fracture.

Darwin is about 60 miles west of Minneapolis.

The organization also recommended short-term public works.

Mixed in with the demands for quick tax cuts were go-slow warnings. Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said he did not want to "step into a tax cut which would mean a big deficit."

But Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, conceded that "the stimulus of a proper tax cut might be helpful."

Opposing any wait-and-see attitude toward tax reduction, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said the nation is in a serious recession "trembling on the edge of a depression."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told Congress today a slash in foreign aid spending would cut employment and heighten the recession.

Pressure Rising For Quick Tax Cut Measure

Nixon Says Ike Plans No Decision Until More Data Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pressure for a quick tax cut built up today with new calls from Republican and Democratic members of Congress.

But Vice President Nixon said President Eisenhower is withholding any decision on such additional antirecession measures as tax cuts or increased public works spending until the statistics for March are available.

Official figures on unemployment, production and other economic factors are being compiled now, but won't be in final form until in April.

Nixon said there are some signs of improvement but that "we can't make any final judgment until the figures for March are all in, and we are not prepared to say at this time what March is going to show."

He indicated the administration is concerned that ill-timed tax reduction or increased federal spending might be inflationary.

IF A TAX CUT should be necessary, Nixon said, he would favor a broadly based reduction aimed at creating jobs. Such cuts, he said, should encourage investment as well as increased purchasing power. Thus, he said, he is against any action that would only raise personal income tax exemptions.

Boosting these exemptions was advocated by several senators. There also were proposals for cutting corporate income taxes and excise levies. Some legislators urged stepped-up spending on public works and slum clearance, as well as federal aid for emergency school construction.

Outside the government, the Committee for Economic Development suggested a temporary 20 per cent slash in all personal income taxes if the economy this month and next sags below February levels.

The CED, a privately supported research organization, said such a slash, possibly starting around midyear and lasting for nine months, would pump $7½ billion into the economy.

The organization also recommended short-term public works.

SNOWBOUND FOR 36 HOURS — More than 800 men, women and children were trapped about 36 hours in a snowbound Pennsylvania Turnpike restaurant near Morgantown before being rescued by bulldozers and helicopters. Buses and trucks followed a zig-zag trail, cut through 4 feet of snow, on the blocked turnpike to reach the scene. Air Force helicopters evacuated a dozen persons who were ill. The others were taken out in buses and trucks when a lane was cleared. Some of the rescued described the experience as a "thirty-six hour nightmare." At left is an air view of the snowbound Pennsylvania Turnpike at Morgantown where the 800 persons took refuge in a roadside restaurant (upper left). Some of them are shown in the heatless and darkened cafe (top, right). While at bottom, right, a woman is helped aboard a helicopter.

Rebels Lose Last Holdings

Indonesians Claim Control of Prapat

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Word from North Sumatra today said Prapat, one of the last reported rebel holdings in the area, was firmly in government hands.

Associated Press correspondent John Griffin telephoned from the war-torn port of Medan that Prapat was "all shot up and there are gutted vehicles in the streets from a battle last Tuesday."

Griffin said Maj. Boyke Mainn Golan, who led the mutiny last week in Medan, had gone into hiding with the remnants of his force among the rubber estates about 100 miles southeast of the key port and rail center. The government retook Medan after a see-saw battle.

Griffin said he had heard of few casualties so far in the North Sumatra fighting except for a continuing battle in the Siantar area. He said Medan was quiet.

LOYALTY FORCES claimed to have recaptured the last major oil installations held by the rebels in the eastern side of central Sumatra in the Rengat area. The sector, in which U.S. Standard Vacuum Oil Co. operates, is about 100 miles southeast of Pakanbaru and the Calcut oil operations.

The big American Calcut Co. resumed crude oil production today after a two-week shutdown because of the civil war.

The $125 million Calcut operation in the marshes of east central Sumatra were shut down shortly before government paratroopers flew in and wrested the oil center of Pakanbaru from rebel hands.

TUNISIA (AP)—Claiming U.S. support, President Habib Bourguiba says Tunisia "can make no further concessions" to France. He promised to go back to the United Nations if the French won't compromise.

"We have done everything possible to meet the French more than halfway," Bourguiba said in summing up his position.

The good offices mission of Robert Murphy, U.S. deputy undersecretary of state, and British diplomat Harold Bealey will return to France Tuesday to negotiate with Premier Felix Gaillard. They will find him fighting for time and U.S. support of the French position in North Africa.

ROQUEBRUNE, France (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill was reported today to be progressing normally and satisfactorily after a slight setback in his recovery from pneumonia and pleurisy.

A source close to the household said that no alarm was felt for the 83-year-old statesman, whose convalescence from his illness last month was interrupted by a relapse Saturday.

THE FIRST Saturday fire came at 2:15 p. m. in a field on the Walnut Creek Pike near Dunkle Road at the Westernbarger farm. Circleville firemen said they were summoned to the Harold Herron farm, Washington Twp., at 3:10 p. m. for a similar blaze.

Firemen said damage was slight in both blazes.

The second Sunday fire was at 11:40 a. m. at the Bosworth farm on the Ringold-Southern Road in Washington Twp. Flames, confined to a field, caused slight damage firemen said.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover said firemen battled the fire for about two hours before bringing it under control. The Harrison Twp. and Williamsport Fire Departments answered the alarm with four tankers and pumpers.

Deputy Hoover said the fire apparently was caused by burning leaves which were carried into the field by strong winds.

The biggest blaze started yesterday at about noon when fire swept a 50-acre field in Jackson Twp. on the Circleville-Commercial Point Road about eight miles northwest of the city. The farm is rented by Cletus Smith.

Tomorrow Marks Cook School Show

Local housewives and homemakers will wind their way to the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum tomorrow night for the Gasco Food and Better Living Institute, Ohio's biggest traveling cooking school.

Tips and general information galore will be presented to interested women of the kitchen clan. The institute is accented by the most modern devices and methods in operating a successful kitchen.

Sponsored by Ohio Fuel, the Food Institute is being co-sponsored here by the Circleville Publishing Co., and cooperating merchants.

The single night performance will start at 8 p. m. Admission will be free.

THE 1958 Food Institute features not only new foods and new ways to use familiar foods, but it has added attractions, as well, including a generous list of prizes for those attending.

Lecturer Harriett Wolfe will present the food demonstrations, helped—and sometimes hindered in humorous vein—by Manager Bob Eichhorn. Emphasis will be on the aids and added conveniences available through proper use of modern gas appliances.

Title of the performance is "The Lady With the Million-Air"—an entertaining and fast-moving show based on the theme that modern gas appliances and housekeeping methods provide the advantages that ordinarily only a millionaire could expect.

A generous list of prizes will be awarded as a climax to the performance.

Miss Wolfe and Mr. Eichhorn will be assisted in the presentation by Betty Newton, Ohio Fuel's local home service adviser.

MISS WOLFE will be assisted in the presentation by Betty Newton, Ohio Fuel's local home service adviser.

Adams County Hills Scoured By Officers

Mother and Daughter Found Shot to Death On Abandoned Farm

WEST UNION (AP)—Law officers moved into the rugged hill country of northern Adams County today, looking for a man they think can tell them a lot about the murder of a woman and her daughter.

Sheriff Eugene Fulton said the hunt is for Sylvanus Daulton, 53-year-old former marshal of Rarden in adjoining Scioto County who was last seen with the women on Friday.

The sheriff said Daulton "lived for some time about 2½ miles from where the two women were found, and he knows this country like a book."

The bodies of Mrs. Florence Hoffer, 51, and her daughter, Margaret Louise, 18, both shot in the head, were found Sunday near a vacant farmhouse.

This touched off a hunt for Daulton who was a stormy figure in the years he was a marshal in Rarden.

The three had been sought since last Friday when Mrs. Hoffer's younger daughter, Orvie, 12, told officers Daulton had driven up to the Hoffer home and forced Mrs. Hoffer into his car after an argument and a scuffle.

INVESTIGATORS said Margaret Louise, who had had a child by Daulton three years ago, apparently got into the car with the two voluntarily.

Daulton was charged with kidnapping in Portsmouth Municipal Court Saturday.

Sheriff Fulton said preliminary investigation indicates Daulton called his wife at Port Wayne, Ind., Saturday to come and pick up his auto.

Daulton had moved to Indiana about a year ago and worked as a Port Wayne private detective.

Officials plan to send the bodies of the two women to Cincinnati today for autopsy.

Tourney Game Is Thrilling For Hamrick

George H. Hamrick, 33, 1052 Lynwood Ave., had the distinction Saturday night of officiating the Class "AA" basketball tournament finals between Columbus North and winner, Cleveland East Tech.

Hamrick, Pickaway County Agricultural Agent, climaxed a 13-year career of refereeing, with his first state tournament "finals" game. This game is the contest every official in state dreams of handling but few get the job.

The selection of the state tournament officials is done by the coaches of over 1,000 high schools in the state. Hamrick, who is a member of the Southern Ohio Officials Assn., Chillicothe chapter, was one of the two top referees picked by coaches. He then was selected from the top 10 throughout the state by the Ohio High School Athletic Assn.

Hamrick is a graduate of Ohio State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Agriculture. He played freshman football while at state. He also attended Rio Grande College where he excelled in football and basketball.

HAMRICK comes from a long line of athletes. His brother, Charles E., was an All-American at OSU in 1936. He had several other brothers who competed in sports. George was an all-county basketball player in Gallia County during his high school career.

Hamrick has officiated in three previous regional and five district tournaments, but finally made the top with his first state tournament. He said that 20 minutes before game time he was more nervous than the players on either team, but just as soon as he tossed up the ball he calmed down. He did an outstanding job of officiating according to state officials. He said both teams played excellent basketball and kept him moving throughout the fast contest.

Elderly Man Falls

Harley Leist, 88, 422 E. Main St., fell in the middle of the street on the corner of Washington and Main streets yesterday at about 10 a. m. according to Circleville Police.

Leist was admitted to Berger Hospital and his condition is reported as "fair." He has been under a doctor's care for some time.

Radcliffs Enjoy Visit With Ted Lewis

Mrs. Paul Radcliffe, Ft. Lauderdale Fla., a former Circleville resident, writes that she had a pleasant visit with handsman Ted Lewis while he was appearing in Ft. Lauderdale.

Mrs. Radcliffe writes that the popular Circleville musician appeared in Ft. Lauderdale for the "Police Benevolent Assn." shows March 18-19.

Ted arranged the meeting while he was playing at the Riviera Hotel in Havana, Cuba. He talked with some of the Radcliff's friends there and said he would like to visit with them during his Ft. Lauderdale stay.

Mrs. Radcliffe said the band leader enjoyed a scrapbook which wife Herald showing Lewis and his wife cutting their 41st wedding anniversary cake here. He autographed the picture for Mrs. Radcliffe.

SHE SAID Lewis also enjoyed other pictures taken in Circleville in 1933.

The former resident said Lewis ended their visit by saying "give my best to all in Circleville and tell them I'll be seeing them in August."

Stock Prices Back Away From Climb

NEW YORK (U.S.)—The stock market backed away from an early rise and was off irregularly in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Losses went from fractions to a point or more among key stocks. There was a scattering of fractional gainers.

Some of the sharper losses were taken by chemicals and aircrafts. Steels were mixed and motors shaded to the downside on reports of cutbacks in automotive steel buying. Rails and utilities showed scant change.

Du Pont and Union Carbide each dropped more than a point. Also down about a point each were Goodrich and Douglas Aircraft.

General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, American Telephone and Standard Oil (New Jersey) eased. U. S. Steel, Ford and Sinclair dropped fractions.

Smaller gains were shown by Lukens Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Montgomery Ward, American Tobacco, Johns-Manville, Eastern Air Lines and American Airlines.

Baltimore & Ohio lost a fraction. Pennsylvania Railroad, Illinois Central and Southern Railway were firm.

Government bonds were steady.

Burglars Enter Local VFW Post

The local Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3331 building was reported broken into late Friday evening or early Saturday morning according to City Police.

Thieves made off with a small amount of money taken from a pinball machine and a jar setting on the counter. An unsuccessful attempt also was made on the cigarette machine, police said.

Boys, 12 and 10, Captured After Killing Grocery Owner

WOODWARD, Okla. (U.S.)—A Woodward grocer was shot to death Sunday, and police arrested a 12-year-old boy and his brother, 10, in the slaying.

Sheriff Hank White said the youngsters had admitted the shooting spree which left two others wounded, one critically.

County Atty. H. B. King said he would file juvenile delinquency charges against Robert Smith, 12, and his brother David, 10. He said he would not file criminal charges because of their ages.

Labor Probers

from "sweetheart" labor contracts with substandard terms of little or no benefit to the employees covered.

It called for a law to punish middlemen in such dealings, as well as employers and union officials who work with them.

The majority handed down "over-all conclusions" that "one man dictatorships thrived" in the investigated unions, with rank and file members deprived of any voice through fear, intimidation and violence.

In general the majority found that violence in labor disputes "still exists to an extent where it may be justifiably labeled a crime against the community;" that enforcement of laws against strike violence has been lax; that some lawyers for unions have been engaged in "unethical practices debasing to the standards of their profession."

MENAMARA SAID he didn't think the committee went far enough in its probe of management misconduct. He suggested that industry should consider the AFL-CIO example of adopting a code of ethical practices.

The majority report said its findings were not intended as any "wholesale indictment" of either labor unions or employers. Rather, it said, the findings should be "a danger signal" to the others in those fields, the vast majority of whom it termed honest.

Without going into detail, the report urged Congress to consider legislation in five fields: (1) to regulate and control pension, health and welfare funds; (2) to regulate and control union funds; (3) to "insure union democracy"; (4) to curb activities of middlemen in labor-management disputes; and (5) to let states take over where the National Labor Relations Board declines to assume jurisdiction.

Ike-Nixon Error Blamed In Recession

DELAWARE (U.S.)—Paul M. Butler, Democratic national chairman, said today "this second Eisenhower-Nixon recession was deliberately planned as a 'readjustment,' but got completely out of hand."

Butler said the administration applied "the brakes when the train had already slowed down. As a result," he said, the country is in a "full-blown recession."

Now, he added, the administration has finally been persuaded to move "and actions which the Republicans were condemning just a few weeks ago as 'panic' are now being put forward as examples of Republican responsibility."

Butler's remarks were in a speech prepared for Ohio Wesleyan University's student assembly. He replied tartly to a speech by Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn before the same group last Friday.

Alcorn had accused the Democrats of wanting to spend federal funds "at random" to combat the recession. He also said they fired a "massive publicity barrage of professional pessimism to shake confidence" in the future.

"Democrats are by nature optimistic," Butler said, "but we are also realistic; we are not fatuous enough to believe that by ignoring crises and pretending that they do not exist that they are somehow going to go away."

Butler said the country can lick the economic downturn "if we but act resolutely, but it is going to take action, not just talk."

During a press conference, Butler discussed the nation's farm problem. He cited the paradox of people being out of work and the cost of living rising.

Most of the increase in the cost of food is going to the processors and not the farmers, he said.

Butler said he favors distribution of surplus crops first to Americans who either are undernourished or unable to buy the food they need and then to foreign nations.

Acting in the face of final congressional action on that bill, Benson ordered into effect a previously announced cut in dairy price props to their legal minimum, starting April 1.

The bill sent to the White House was aimed in large part at heading off this dairy support reduction. It would block any cuts in price props for a number of major commodities below 1957 levels, and would require a similar freeze in acreage allotments.

Farm leaders said they doubted the secretary would have made his move without advance word that Eisenhower would back him. Benson previously predicted a veto of any freeze legislation, and Eisenhower himself indicated earlier in the week that he felt the freeze bill was the wrong way to approach the farm problem.

In both the Senate and House, the bill passed by margins far short of the two-thirds necessary to override a veto.

In opposing the measure, Republican backers of the administration contended Democrats were trying to embarrass the President in advance of the fall congressional elections. But Democrats argued the bill is needed to help battle the recession. They said its enactment would mean half a billion dollars more income for farmers.

Spokesmen for the club said new members are invited to join the newly formed group. Many other outings and interesting activities are planned for this summer.

The next meeting will be held Sunday in the home of D. E. Phillips, 439 John St. Officers for the year will be elected at this session.

Christ Portrayed In Blue Jeans

LONDON (U.S.)—Jesus Christ was depicted in blue jeans and sweat shirt in a televised modern-dress version Sunday night of his persecution and Crucifixion.

Played by an anonymous actor, he was beaten up by two interrogators wearing derbies and trench coats and looking like movie detectives. The soldiers who carried out the crucifixion wore British army battle dress. Pontius Pilate whipped out a lighter and lighted a cigarette as he signed Christ's death warrant.

The play was written by Father Hugh Bishop, principal of the Anglican College at Mirfield.

Tourney Game Is Thrilling For Hamrick

George H. Hamrick, 33, 1052 Lynwood Ave., had the distinction Saturday night of officiating the Class "AA" basketball tournament finals between Columbus North and winner, Cleveland East Tech.

Hamrick, Pickaway County Agricultural Agent, climaxed a 13-year career of refereeing, with his first state tournament finals game. This game is the contest every official in state dreams of handling but few get the job.

The selection of the state tournament officials is done by the coaches of over 1,000 high schools in the state. Hamrick, who is a member of the Southeastern Ohio Officials Assn., Chillicothe chapter, was one of the two top referees picked by coaches. He then was selected from the top 10 throughout the state by the Ohio High School Athletic Assn.

Hamrick is a graduate of Ohio State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Agriculture. He played freshman football while at state. He also attended Rio Grande College where he excelled in football and basketball.

HAMRICK comes from a long line of athletes. His brother, Charles E., was an All-American at OSU in 1936. He had several other brothers who competed in sports. George was an all-county basketball player in Gallia County during his high school career.

Hamrick has officiated in three previous regional and five district tournaments, but finally made the top with his first state tournament. He said that 20 minutes before game time he was more nervous than the players on either team, but just as soon as he tossed up the ball he calmed down. He did an outstanding job of officiating according to state officials. He said both teams played excellent basketball and kept him moving throughout the fast contest.

Obsolescence Planners Hit Trouble Today

Technical Experts
Rap Practice as Wasting Resources

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Some industries specializing in planned obsolescence are among those having the most trouble today.
Planned obsolescence means deliberately bringing out a product aimed at making last year's model appear out of date. By repeating this each year sales volume tends to rise. Advocates of planned obsolescence say it is basic to modern American economy.
Technical obsolescence is another matter. This comes from new products that out-date the old through superiority but have a long life expectancy of their own. Walter Dorwin Teague, noted designer says technical advances come so fast purely artificial obsolescence is unjustified.
He and other opponents of planned obsolescence say it wastes resources and talents, and that people are getting too wise to fall for it.
Probably the oldest example of planned obsolescence is in women's fashions.
Detroit often is accused of bringing out a flashy new model automobile one year, trying to make next year's appear different without too much costly retooling, and then concentrating on the third year's model to make the preceding two look terribly out of date.
The reason manufacturers and designers do this is entirely understandable: they want to make money. In America that's no crime.
But Teague questions the sense of the nation using an enormous amount of capital reserves and engineering talent in obsolescence merchandising drives while complaining of a dearth of funds and skills for a needed defense program.

Jailed Amish Farm Couples Firm in Religious Beliefs

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Three Amish farm couples jailed almost two weeks ago may miss the spring plowing and planting season.
The farmers were locked in Wayne County jail for refusing—because of religious conviction—to send their sons to school until age 16 as required by Ohio's school attendance laws.

They refused also to turn the three boys over to county custody as ordered by Probate Judge Don J. Young Jr. of Norwalk.
Should they choose to remain in jail their farms will be worked by their children and neighbors. The devout Amish traditionally aid their neighbors in time of need. The three jailed couples—all in their 40s—have a total of 28 children ranging in age from 22 years to one year.

Judge Young, who ordered the parents held March 12 for contempt of court, said he would keep them in jail "from now to summer" if the children are not turned over to authorities.

"We never thought we'd be kept in jail that day we came up for a hearing," said Salome Hersberger, wife of John Hersberger. Their son Andy, 15, is one of the truant boys.

Mrs. Hersberger and her two Amish companions, the only women prisoners in the jail, were assigned to quarters described by Sheriff Glen Rike's mother Lillian as "a small room with one window."

Mrs. Rike added:
"We have only two small beds for three of them so one is sleeping on a mattress on the floor."
How do the women keep busy in jail?

"We didn't have time to even pick up a bit of sewing to keep us busy. We just pray and read the Bible and talk to each other about our families," said Elizabeth Hersberger, wife of Eli J.

at much of this. They hold that Americans don't want their purchases to last—that they really just rent things on the installment plan, expecting to trade them in before finally paid for—that superior quality that lasts for decades can't be sold to most Americans.

Hersberger. One of their sons, Sammy, 14, has not attended school since he finished the eighth grade last June.

Jacob Slabaugh, 14, is the third boy sought. His parents are Emanuel and Mary Slabaugh.

Public response to confinement of the Amish brought comment from John Hersberger:

"We have more friends than we thought. We're just modest folks. We never thought people out in the world would bother with us."

Attorney E. Guy Hammond has volunteered legal aid and has filed a motion for a rehearing of the contempt charges. Judge Young will hear the motion Tuesday.

Of the missing boys Hersberger said:

"They hid themselves. Frankly, we don't know exactly where they are, but we are sure they are in good hands.

"Our problem has always been schools," he continued:

"I only went to the fourth grade myself, but the good Lord saw fit to help us. When we were married we had to start from scratch. Today I have a fine family. We live on 78 acres of general purpose farm and I also own two other farms."

The families are members of a small Amish sect in the Mount Eaton and Kiron area, about 20 miles southeast of here. They contend that to send their children to school beyond the eighth grade is contrary to the Bible and weakens ties to their strict religious beliefs.

At the hearing, Judge Young explained: "We have the greatest respect for religion, but the State Legislature has ordained that children must be in school until they are 16 years old."

Patience, the judge continued: "Your problem is your refusal to yield to a court order. Religious faith doesn't enter into the present proceeding."

The Amish farmers, dressed in their work clothes, sometimes leaned against the bench or put their arms on top of it as they addressed the judge. The Amish do not believe in hiring attorneys and were not represented at the hearing.

In soft voices they explained to Judge Young:

"Under the creed of our church and the word of God, we can't give up our children. If they are taken from us by force, we can't help it."

"We have committed no crime. We take care of our children. We are not criminals."

Flanked by deputy sheriffs the three men, their black broad-brimmed hats in their hands, and the black-bonneted women were led from the crowded courtroom.

"We've just got to hear it. It's for Christ's sake," an Amish on-looker commented.

Old Triangle Takes 2 Lives

Dayton Men Killed
After Love Dispute

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A triangle affair ended abruptly Sunday night with one man shot to death by another who later took his life by walking in front of a train, authorities reported.

The victims were Lester Maxwell, 32, and George Miller, 29. Police said Miller shot Maxwell to death in a Dayton trailer court, then was struck and killed by a train as he walked along tracks in neighboring Green County.

Greene County Coroner Dr. Hugh C. Schick ruled Miller's death a suicide, the sheriff's office in Xenia reported.

Miller's body was identified by his wife, Thelma, 23, who was seated in a car with Maxwell when the shooting occurred.

Dayton Police Sgt. F. A. Lins said witnesses told him that Miller walked up to the car, an argument ensued and Maxwell was shot once in the chest with a foreign-made pistol.

A German Luger pistol was found in a car Miller has been driving, the Greene County sheriff's office said. The car was found a mile from the railroad crossing on Factory Road, about five miles west of Xenia, where the Indianapolis-bound Baltimore & Ohio passenger train hit Miller.

Deputy Sheriff Thomas Dale Evers said the weapon found in the car was identified as the one used in the shooting.

Lins said witnesses told him Mrs. Miller struggled with her husband following the shooting, but that he broke free and escaped. The state highway patrol, amplifying on this, said Miller also tried to shoot his wife but his gun jammed. The patrol said he hit her over the head with the gun, and she required hospital treatment.

Detectives today were still investigating the cause of the shooting.

Harmless Fun

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (AP)—Phoenix, Ariz., is getting to be a mite "too stuffy" as far as Wickenburg rancher Ralph Mertens is concerned.

Mertens heads a civic group that whoops it up every year for Wickenburg's annual Gold Rush Days celebration. He said Phoenix police have banned the firing of six-shooters, riding horses through bank lobbies, herding burros into hotel elevators and other such harmless fun as was the custom in past years.

Hotel 'Jike' Ends Up as Costly Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What began as a joke wound up as a $25,000 loss, officials of the Deshler-Hilton Hotel here say.

They came up with that figure after firemen rushed to the hotel—located at a main intersection of the city—Saturday. A fire which started in a mattress was confined to one room, but smoke swirled through the hotel. "Twelve guests were evacuated."

Firemen gave no damage estimate, but officials said a careless fire charge has been filed against Joseph E. Kundert, 35, of Delphos. They said Kundert told them he hid a roomer's baggage and bed while the other man was out.

Kundert apparently dropped a burning cigarette ash on the mattress as he carried it into the bathroom, but did not notice it and left for the state high school basketball tournament, officials added. The fire was discovered about an hour later.

Obsolescence Planners Hit Trouble Today

Technical Experts Rap Practice as Wasting Resources

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Some industries specializing in planned obsolescence are among those having the most trouble today.

Planned obsolescence means deliberately bringing out a product aimed at making last year's model appear out of date. By repeating this each year sales volume tends to rise. Advocates of planned obsolescence say it is basic to modern American economy.

Technical obsolescence is another matter. This comes from new products that out-date the old through superiority but have a long life expectancy of their own. Walter Dorwin Teague, noted designer says technical advances come so fast purely artificial obsolescence is unjustified.

He and other opponents of planned obsolescence say it wastes resources and talents, and that people are getting too wise to fall for it.

Probably the oldest example of planned obsolescence is in women's fashions.

Detroit often is accused of bringing out a flashy new model automobile one year, trying to make next year's appear different without too much costly retooling, and then concentrating on the third year's model to make the preceding two look terribly out of date.

The reason manufacturers and designers do this is entirely understandable: they want to make money. In America that's no crime.

But Teague questions the sense of the nation using an enormous amount of capital reserves and engineering talent in obsolescence merchandising drives while complaining of a dearth of funds and skills for a needed defense program.

Teague advocates these principles: the product should be better because of its design; it must be more convenient to use; it should be more economical all around, and it ought to be beautiful and gratifying.

Milady's Easter Hosiery Due To Be in Living Color

important style is the chemise overblouse, hipbone length, just slightly shorter than the boxy jacket, which often is worn open.

The new blouses are soft and feminine in styling and are shown in many handsome fabrics, from printed silk to linen, always carefully coordinated with the suit color. Sometimes the blouse is shown in linen or chiffon exactly matching the suit. Sometimes it is a contrasting color or print matching the jacket lining.

Next in importance to the chemise blouse is the blouson, which is bloused over a band or drawstring, but worn outside the skirt. This is particularly effective in chiffon or very lightweight silks.

Some of the new details to look for when you go shopping for your spring blouse wardrobe are: wide necklines, tailored slotted vents or shirtdetail finish on chemise blouses, feminine touches such as neckline bows or jabots, lace edgings, panel inserts, colorful trimmings of applique and embroidery.

When buying a chemise or mid-dy type blouse, it is important to be sure that it hangs smoothly and fits snugly at the neckline. Then you can remove your jacket with pride.

Sam Has Made Up His Mind

Speaker Sam Rayburn says that, regardless of protests, he is going to push through the 1955 congressional authorization to tear out the East front of the Capitol Building of the United States and rebuild it 32.5 feet further out. The House of Representatives, over which he presides, is cramped, he contends.

Rayburn insists that is true, even though a third House Office Building is under construction which ought to give that body plenty of room. Its membership is stabilized by law at 435.

"A piece of vandalism," the New York Times calls it, and many noted architects agree. It violates an area of traditionalism—that of symbolic public buildings—which most civilizations have always held sacred. Every country has such buildings which are regarded as shrines and not to be defaced except under the most extreme urgency.

But Sam is bull-headed about this. Doubtless he has one of those fixations often noted in the elderly.

If this plan goes through, it will be another manifestation of slipshod legislative methods in parliamentary bodies. The project should have been debated thoroughly in 1955, as it was not. Current protests, if they become far more numerous and insistent, might block it.

Even the most obdurate, in the face of an aroused public opinion, sometimes have second thoughts.

Dulles Doesn't Like Moon Deal

Secretary of State Dulles does not attach much importance to the so-called "race to the moon."

Dulles pessimistically told a House committee in Washington that he believed the Russians would be first on Earth's satellite. Then he implied that he didn't believe it worthwhile for the U. S. to spend great sums "to be second."

Logically, he is probably correct. Thinking strictly in terms of what such a stunt would mean in practical effect, there is no obvious immediate gain to being first on the moon. And, not being a young man, to Dulles the idea of space travel seems hardly worth the effort because he knows that neither he nor anyone his age is likely to see it accomplished—except as a stunt.

This is the sort of thinking that largely dominated official thinking during the pre-sputnik period. The first reactions of presidential advisers that the Russian satellite was "a silly bauble" reflected this.

Unfortunately, logic is not enough when dealing with millions of people who are influenced by any evidence—even a stunt—of the success of one system of government over another. The desire to be on the winning team is great—and it is important that America continue to provide evidence of its world leadership in scientific achievement.

How To Cure a Sleepless Cat

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — There is a fur-bearing stranger in our house.

He is large and fat and insolent. In color he ranges from a faded midnight to a misty mountain twilight. He has eyes of sapphire, and they are slightly crossed.

This stranger is a Siamese cat. Or so he claims. And he bears the unlikely name of Ralph Beauty Marble Candy.

During the day, Ralph is a sleeping volcano. He permits his wife, Frances, to go about her usual chores. He allows our daughter, Tracy, 5, to lug him around the house, as over his face there settles a look of dignified resignation that clearly says, "This, too, shall pass."

But at night Ralph, worn out by daylight dozing, is like a prowling phonograph on which the record has become stuck.

Most cats say "meow." Not our one-note Ralph. Over and over he groans "Ow!"

At first we thought he had worms, a bone stuck in his throat, or a splinter in his paw. Nope. A check showed Ralph was no 4F. His health was perfect.

"He just has loneliness insomnia," finally said Frances. "Someone in this house just has to stay up and keep him company at night until he gets accustomed to the place."

How do you set about curing a cat of insomnia?

The best answer, I found, was a combination of food and James Joyce.

If you have a cat with insomnia, here is your best cure: Put a can of dog food and a copy of Joyce's "Finnegan's Wake" on your bedside table before you retire. If the cat begins to howl, feed it two heaping tablespoons of dog food — and take a small one yourself, if you feel hungry. Then open "Finnegan's Wake" at random and read three pages.

Five minutes later, I guarantee, both you and the cat will be sound asleep, purring happily.

Foreign Goods Make Invasion

By George Sokolsky

Evidence is piling up that the invasion of foreign goods is adding to the economic distress of the country. This only affects certain specific industries, such as ceramics, cotton goods, tuna fishing and so on. It could, in time affect the automobile industry.

For instance, American ceramics manufacturers have stated to the Ways and Means Committee that "low-waged, foreign producers of light weight china have captured over 90 per cent" of the American market. The 1957 market showed a decline over 1950 by 36.3 per cent.

In 1952, the staff of the Tariff Commission found: "...The rate of duty necessary to equalize the United States and Japanese costs of production of medium-grade chinaware is 284 per cent ad valorem based on foreign value and 15 cents per dozen separate pieces."

Then in 1954, the same Tariff Commission decided that this American industry was not entitled to relief because Japanese ware sold in this country was priced so low as to be non-competitive with similar American goods. In other words, when an Asiatic or European cartel, subsidized by a government, paying low wages, maybe exempt from taxes, can knock down an American industry, then the Tariff Commission need not act because if the foreign maker can charge less for the same goods than the American manufacturers, then they are non-competitive. If this is not gibberish, what is it?

While from the standpoint of abstract economics, a free market may be sounder than tariffs and other devices to impede trade, when wages are raised not by the law of supply and demand, but by legislative and social action, it becomes imperative to prevent a 22 cents an hour wage from destroying the market of a $1.88 an hour worker.

There was a time when it was impossible for the more advanced countries to take advantage of improved techniques and machinery to make up the difference by more efficient methods of production. Today every country can own the same machinery and can learn the most advanced techniques.

In fact, backward countries apply automatic machinery in preference to teaching their workers crafts and trades which involve individual skills. The more automatic the machine, the less need there is for skilled labor. In the United States, unskilled and semi-skilled labor is expensive.

Some countries need cheap labor because it is essential to their economy that they export their best production, keeping what they may for their own people who are doomed to a low standard of living. Japan is such a country, for Japan must export to be able to import food and raw materials. The same, in an equal measure, is true of both Great Britain and West Germany. Such countries cannot exist without exports.

On the other hand, the United States has generally outpaced itself in the export market, not being able to compete with Japan or West Germany or Czechoslovakia or Poland even in the American market. The cost of labor as well as the cost of taxes and raw materials in the United States forces a price upon American goods which the backward countries cannot pay.

As long as this is true, the best market for American goods is the United States but it is also the best market for the goods of all other countries. It is the latter condition which creates the serious problem.

E. L. Torbert, speaking for the American Fine China Guild, said:

"I would describe, unethical the use of State and Commerce Department offices to encourage unofficial agreements between industry in this and foreign countries—on a unilateral basis — to control the volume of imports into the United States. We have legislation on our books to regulate trade equitably. But our State Department, instead of using these laws of the land properly, abuses them and acts to aid in the formation of illegal cartels and agreements in restraint of trade."

I have never heard this accusation before, except in the Schenley brief to the Tariff Commission which gives the impression of the existence of a foreign whisky cartel operating in the United States. Now along comes this ceramics organization with a direct accusation against the State Department.

Cartels are forbidden in the United States by law. That applies equally to foreign as to American cartels. If cartelization is being arranged in the interest of foreign manufacturers and traders, surely some committee of Congress will take notice.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FOR YEARS a beggar stationed himself in front of a skyscraper with a tray of shoelaces. One executive always stopped on his way in to give the beggar a dime, though he never took any laces. One morning he deposited his usual dime in the cup when the beggar stopped him. "I'm sorry, mister," said the beggar, "but I've had to raise my laces to a quarter."

An indulgent father heard his 7-year-old son boasting about his progress in arithmetic at the school where he just had been enrolled. "I'm so proud of you, lad," enthused the father, "let's see how good you really are. What is one plus one?" The kid knit his brows, then explained, "We haven't gotten that far yet."

A very, very ancient jalopy wheezed up to the toll gate of a new super-highway. "Eighty cents," said the attendant. "Sold!" cried the driver.

Chest X-Rays Should Continue Despite Threat of Radiation

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

One of the most important methods we have for detecting tuberculosis, cancer of the lungs and other thoracic diseases is the chest X-ray. There is no doubt that X-rays have saved countless persons from serious illness, months of hospitalization and even death.

Last year the Illinois Department of Public Health made more than 328,000 chest X-rays. By state law or city ordinance, thousands of school personnel and food-handlers are required to have periodic chest examinations.

Dr. Roland Cross, Illinois State Health Director, reports that the mobile X-ray unit program "continues to be a major factor in reducing the number of tuberculosis deaths in Illinois." And I wholeheartedly agree.

But the advent of atomic and hydrogen weapons has made all of us more radiation-conscious than ever before. So I guess it was natural that the question of radiation in relation to mass chest X-ray programs was bound to come up.

The matter was discussed thoroughly recently at a special session of the American Trudeau Society, the medical section of the National Tuberculosis Association.

The ATS executive committee formulated principles for the guidance of tuberculosis associations in conducting their case-finding programs. Since some of these recommendations will affect some of you, I'd like to pass on the major points.

The group emphasizes that X-ray equipment must be kept in proper condition and that protection devices must be used to keep any possible danger from radiation at a minimum.

Now the ATS recommends—and again I agree—that chest X-rays be continued, not only in the field of tuberculosis, but also in detection of cancer, industrial thoracic disease, acute and chronic tuberculosis infections, chest tumors and cardiovascular abnormalities.

In view of this, the ATS also recommends:

These surveys should be conducted among segments of the population expected to show a high yield of thoracic disease.

Tuberculin tests (skin tests) be used to screen children and young adults, pregnant women and young diabetics. But chest X-rays for these persons should be given only if the tuberculin test is positive.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower — because of a milestone passed 12 years ago — can use the government's resources in fighting the recession. Seem simple and natural? It wasn't always.

For most of American history there was argument over whether the government had responsibility for the general welfare. There still is. It's academic now. Congress made such responsibility the law of the land in 1946.

The dispute over the two words "general welfare" goes right back to the shaping of the Constitution, where they appear twice, briefly in the preamble, and then this way in Section 8, Article 1:

"The Congress shall have the power to lay and collect taxes... to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States."

What "general welfare" meant wasn't explained. Two of the signers, James Madison and Alexander Hamilton, disagreed almost at once. Madison said the words meant nothing. Hamilton said the opposite: Congress' power to tax and spend was limited to one consideration: that it must be for the general welfare, as distinguished from local purposes.

That cleared up nothing.

In 1834 President Pierce blocked Congress from turning over some federal lands to the states for the benefit of the insane. He reasoned the welfare clause didn't give the government the right to use its resources for the indigent insane or the indigent.

In 1887 President Cleveland made a statement forever after famous when he vetoed a bill to give $10,000 to drought sufferers in Texas: "Though the people support the government the government should not support the people."

President Hoover quoted this phrase of Cleveland's in 1931 when he opposed giving 25 million dollars to drought sufferers in 21 states. He wanted the Red Cross to help them.

Hoover took this position about government help: the government is an "umpire instead of a player in the economic game" and he said, "I am opposed to any direct or indirect government dole." He wanted unemployment and relief handled by local communities, states and charity.

In the early depression days he was against unemployment insurance — and so was AFL President William Green — and he vetoed a bill providing for employment exchanges.

It wasn't until late in 1932, with the country near collapse, that Hoover approved government loans to the states for relief work. Loans were not grants.

The whole philosophy about the welfare clause changed after President Roosevelt took office and Congress in 1933 passed the Federal Emergency Relief Act, which gave the states grants — not loans — for relief.

Finally, in 1937 the Supreme Court ruled the government had responsibility for the general welfare when it approved the Social Security Act, which imposed taxes for unemployment insurance and old-age pensions, Justice Cardozo, writing the opinion, upheld Hamilton over Madison and said: "The issue is closed."

Not quite: although the court said the government could use tax money for the general welfare no future administration was required to spend money or even lift a finger to provide for the general welfare if it didn't want to.

Then in 1946, fearing tremendous unemployment after the war, Congress passed the Employment Act, which said two things: "... It is the... responsibility of the federal government... to... promote the general welfare" and use all "its resources" in doing so. It particularly mentioned overcoming unemployment.

So at last this had become the policy of the government, and all future administrations had a directive to act.

Economy Wave To Curtail Maintenance of State Parks

COLUMBUS, Ohio — How will the state's economy wave effect the more than 50 state parks that annually attract 12 million visitors?

There will be fewer persons working the parks this summer, and maintenance costs will be pared. That's the word from Col. Herbert Eagon, director of the state Department of Natural Resources.

Various divisions of the department have submitted figures to show how they can cut their operating expenses so the entire department will spend $324,194 less than anticipated between now and July 1.

One of the largest reductions will be made in the parks division, headed by V. W. Flickinger. Maintenance costs for parks will be pared by $115,879, including both salaries and materials.

Flickinger's assistant, George O'Malley, said the division will take care of park visitors as best it can with its reduced budget.

"There will be fewer people working in the parks and we will have to watch our buying of materials," he said. Park maintenance—keeping the picnic, camping and other areas clean, will suffer some.

O'Malley said working schedules will be adjusted so the most help will be on hand when largest crowds visit the parks.

"The most important task will be done and we will try to keep the parks as clean as we did last year."

This year there will be fewer lifeguards, laborers and park patrolmen, but their working hours will coincide with peak park attendance.

In some cases, laborers, who get parks ready for summer and work throughout the summer, will be hired later. Some, instead of working three months as usual, will be on the payroll for shorter lengths of time.

Maintenance work at park areas not yet opened to the public will be cut to zero. Cuts will vary from park to park in other areas.

Eagon said the department's plans for cutting costs have been submitted to the state Finance Department. He said the department will postpone buying equipment, curtail travel and communications expenses and refrain from filling some vacancies at this time.

In addition to the operas he wrote with W.S. Gilbert, Sir Arthur Sullivan also composed, on his own, songs and oratorios.

Movie theaters in Great Britain decreased by 226 to a total of 4,171 during 1957.

State Official Outlines Ohio's Need for Teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Just how great is the demand for teachers?

Harold J. Bowers, director of the State Division of Teacher Education and Certification, puts it in these words:

"We know that if we are to rely on the output of Ohio colleges as our major source of supply that in the years ahead more than half of all freshmen who enter college must prepare for teaching."

He recently addressed the organization meeting of the State-house Conference on Education, which will study education problems at the grass roots level. Discussion groups will be organized in each community.

Bowers says Ohio must find ways to:

1. Reduce the annual loss of teachers.
2. Increase the number of high school graduates who want to become teachers.

3. Guarantee adequate college facilities for preparing almost twice as many teachers as is being done now.

4. Provide financial help to promising students who can not afford to go to college.

5. Persuade more of those prepared to teach to accept positions in Ohio schools.

6. Make better use of Ohio's best qualified teachers.

Total enrollment in Ohio's public schools has increased by nearly 600,000 in the last 10 years, Bowers said. By 1965 another one-half million students will be in school.

"In 1948 it required 40,000 certified persons to staff our schools," he said. "This year it requires 67,853 and in 1964 it will require 84,000."

Every year nearly one teacher in 10 leaves teaching. Of the 47,544 who dropped out in the last 10 years, 10 per cent took positions in business and industry, about 2½ per cent retired, 17 per cent quit because of marriage or home responsibilities, nearly 11 per cent took teaching positions in other states, 2 per cent died and the rest left for all other or undisclosed reasons.

Over the last 10 years, Ohio has added an average of 2,425 teachers a year to meet steady enrollment increases. The figure for the current school year was 2,700.

"In addition," Bowers continued, "1,300 teachers were added for the current year because of the move toward a lower pupil-teacher ratio and more adequate supervisory and personnel services at the schools have."

The demand for teachers is so great that 4,793 teachers in Ohio schools have full-time jobs although they have not met the minimum requirements for teaching certificates.

"In most cases it is assumed that a partially prepared teacher is better than no teacher at all," he said.

Bowers found one bright spot in the picture. It will be slightly easier to find teachers next year than it was this year, because colleges will graduate about 10 per cent more than last year.

"And letters on my desk indicate that more than the usual number of former teachers are seeking to return to the classroom," he added.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have always honestly wondered about the institution of marriage; I think the so-called ideal marriage, that the majority of people are seeking, is almost never found. Life in marriage (as compared to the "ideal") leaves so much to be desired, that oftentimes married people consider themselves the unhappiest of all.

If they could know at the start, or learn to know as they go along that "marriage is a shelter for human nature, a providential sort of arrangement for protecting humanity from its own weakness and waywardness and instability," it would be such a help; and make for so much more understanding and happiness in the world.

My own experience, and the lives of others I know, are proof positive. I believe that less is known about the real reason for marriage than almost anything else in the world. And I am so hoping that you will further expound your notion that "this unit-plan (marriage) is of divine origin, conceived and established to sanctify the creation, and guarantee the long term moral nurture, of human beings."

DEAR H.B.: If there is fresh understanding in my present thinking about the meaning of marriage, I am probably chiefly indebted to two books from British writers, that have come to my attention in recent years.

The one is "Society and Sanity" by Frank J. Sheed. And the other is "Life Together" by Wingfield Hope (a pseudonym for an Englishwoman whose wisdom and charity have been ripened by sorrow).

Both books are published by Sheed & Ward, who publish in New York as well as London; and they show no regional or national bias, in speaking of people. They're remarkable for their searching humorous depiction of the "human" nature of mankind; and in their profound reverence for the immortal essence of life, that lights every soul.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I enjoyed your discussion (Feb. 14) of a wife's complaint that her doctor husband neglects her socially. You say that both man and wife have something to learn in this case, about the patterns of accommodation required, to make a good relationship.

May I add the following — not original with me: "A wife is for her husband that which he has made her. Woman is weak and in marriage she should submit her will to man's. In return, man owes her the sacrifice of his selfishness and self will. Marriage must continually vanquish a monster that devours everything: the monster of habit." — Balzac.

"A woman's torment is not the man's tyranny — but his indifference." — Jules Michelet.

DEAR R.R.: All things considered, I doubt that Balzac has much to contribute towards the relief of domestic tensions. As for Michelet, judged by the quote, he is an egotist; but is he a healer?

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have always honestly wondered about the institution of marriage; I think the so-called ideal marriage, that the majority of people are seeking, is almost never found. Life in marriage (as compared to the "ideal") leaves so much to be desired, that oftentimes married people consider themselves the unhappiest of all.

If they could know at the start, or learn to know as they go along that "marriage is a shelter for human nature, a providential sort of arrangement for protecting humanity from its own weakness and waywardness and instability." It would be such a help; and make for so much more understanding and happiness in the world.

My own experience, and the lives of others I know, are proof positive. I believe that less is known about the real reason for marriage than almost anything else in the world. And I am so hoping that you will further expound your notion that "this unit-plan (marriage) is of divine origin, conceived and established to sanctify the creation, and guarantee the long term moral nurture, of human beings."

DEAR H.B.: If there is fresh understanding in my present thinking about the meaning of marriage, I am probably chiefly indebted to two books from British writers, that have come to my attention in recent years.

The one is "Society and Sanity" by Frank J. Sheed. And the other is "Life Together" by Wingfield Hope (a pseudonym for an Englishwoman whose wisdom and charity have been ripened by sorrow).

Both books are published by Sheed & Ward, who publish in New York as well as London; and they show no regional or national bias, in speaking of people. They're remarkable for their searching humorous depiction of the "human" nature of mankind; and in their profound reverence for the immortal essence of life, that lights every soul.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I enjoyed your discussion (Feb. 14) of a wife's complaint that her doctor husband neglects her socially. You say that both man and wife have something to learn in this case, about the patterns of accommodation required, to make a good relationship.

May I add the following — not original with me:

"A wife is for her husband that which he has made her. Woman is weak and in marriage she should submit her will to man's. In return, man owes her the sacrifice of his selfishness and self will. Marriage must continually vanquish a monster that devours everything: the monster of habit."

DEAR R.R.: All things considered, I doubt that Balzac has much to contribute towards the relief of domestic tensions. As for Michel, judged by the quote, he is an egotist; but is he a healer?

Mary Haworth counsels only through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

MRS. RICHARD BACHMAN

Mr., Mrs. Bachman United In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Joann Dale Fausnaugh and Richard Lee Bachman were united in marriage in David's Lutheran Church, Canal Winchester. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Fausnaugh, Circleville and Mr. Bachman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bachman, Carroll. The Rev. V. D. Ridenour officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The altar was decorated with vases filled with white carnations and snapdragons. Palm trees formed the background. Seven branch candelabra, holding burning tapers, towers were also used. White satin bows marked the pews. Alice Schmidt was organist and Jerry Rasor, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of silk taffeta, styled with a square neckline, empire bodice and an elongated torso outlined with hand-run Alencon lace, encrusted with iridescent and seed pearls. Long sleeves tapered to points over her hands. The bouffant skirt billowed over an old fashioned hoop, terminating in a chapel train.

The bride's fingertip veil of sheer bridal illusion was draped softly from a tiara of iridescent and tiny seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a eart-shaped pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Maid of honor was Miss Margaret Reid of Mt. Sterling. She wore a gown of blue taffeta with a scoop neckline, cap sleeves and a fitted elongated bodice featuring dark blue tucked bands, forming flowing panels in the back of the circular skirt. She wore a matching horsehair braid bandeaux, trimmed with seed pearls. Her flowers were a cresent of pink carnations.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Temple and Mrs. Robert Fausnaugh, both of Circleville. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Vicki Lou Bachman, Carroll. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor. They carried light pink bouquets of carnations and each wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts of the bride.

Flower girls were Linda Fausnaugh and Jodie Klamfoth, nieces of the bride and bridegroom, respectively. Ringbearer was Kenneth Temple, nephew of the bride. Serving as best man was David Simiele. Seating the guests were Robert Fausnaugh, Paul Bachman and Wilbur Barnhart.

Mrs. Fausnaugh, mother of the bride, chose a dress of blue lace over taffeta with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a dress of cocoa lace over taffeta with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held in the social room of the church following the wedding. The bridal table was centered with a four tiered wedding cake encircled with fern and pink carnations.

Hostesses were Mrs. Don Klamfoth, Mrs. James Fausnaugh, Mrs. Paul Bachman, Miss Joyce Boldorser and Miss Sue Ann Radcliff.

The new Mrs. Bachman chose a white knit suit with black accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet for her wedding trip through the Central States.

Mealtime's a' Chance For Family to Have Fun

Laughter at mealtime, enjoyed by all the members of the family, is to be cherished.

It can't occur against radio or TV, nor in a strained or hurried atmosphere. It comes when none are rushed or annoyed at any body else, and when all is well and the world is shut out.

Mealtime laughter is at its best when every member of the family participates, when each is sensitive to amusing thing as they arise and recalls many funny things, either personally experienced or heard or read. It's wonderful when the humor is not at the expense of anyone present or any person absent, when the remarks which arouse laughter don't suggest that any other person or his family or race, nationality or religion is inferior. Safe, however, are remarks made by any person which are designed to turn laughter on himself.

In the growing family, it's grand when parents and children make it a practice to recall at mealtime some joke they have heard or read that day. Finding that such humor gives pleasure to the whole family group, they may get into the habit of being on the lookout for amusing happenings.

How wonderful it is when a youngster ventures to relate a funny incident or joke. This is the time for parents to listen courteously and to express enjoyment over the child's report, pleasure over his success at relating it.

There's an art in learning to appreciate the humor of young children and in telling before them only funny things within their grasp.

Even though we have often heard his same jokes before, it's best not to tell a child we have. If a guest repeated a story, we'd listen politely. This we can do for our children.

Vividly I recall being a dinner guest when a speech-handicapped child, 10, told a joke. He did it well. His parents were courteous and appreciative. Later I learned from the father that this lad had practiced telling this joke.

Note the possibilities for cultivating ease and forcefulness of verbal expression in any child. Such talents are useful to him in all his social relations. There's hardly a better way to help a poor reader than to encourage him to read jokes in order to tell them.

Some Beauty Problems Go Right to Your Head

The oft-heard expression, "Can't do a thing with my hair!" covers a multitude of problems.

There is, for example, the case of hair that takes a curl, but all too well.

"I have to set my hair every other night," writes a reader, "or else it looks straggly. But after a setting it's too tightly curled and not at all becoming. I resemble a middle-aged Shirley Temple."

The solution is simple. Probably the lady wets her hair before setting it. This makes for a tight curl. The less water you use, the softer the curl will be. In her case, a dry set (no water at all) might be the best bet of all.

Lack-lustre locks bother many a miss. How to make hair appear shiny and bright? There are three ways to do this.

Most important is brushing. Hair that gets 100 strokes a night takes on a wonderful sheen. It's prettiest of all.

A cream rinse, following a shampoo, gives hair lustre, too.

Sprays will provide a glossy finish for hair but choose carefully. Lacquer types will leave it sticky and difficult to comb.

Dull hair may be caused by faulty shampoos. If all the soap isn't rinsed away, a film's left on hair that makes it look drab. So rinse, rinse, rinse that soap away until hair's squeaking clean.

Spring Task for a Girl: Sew Herself a Raincoat

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

One of the brightest things a girl can do this spring is to sew her own raincoat.

It's an easy assignment, because a raincoat is cut on simple lines and requires less fitting than a dress. And it pays off in big dividends, because this is an important addition to the wardrobe.

Making your own raincoat becomes a practical matter this year, since somebody discovered that you can pick the brightest printed cotton on the fabric counter, be sure that it's sanforized against shrinkage, make it up into a smart coat and then send it to your dry-cleaner to have it rain-proofed.

Choose a sturdy sportswear cotton, such as topsail, now available in all kinds of gay prints—polka dots, flowers or whimsical motifs. Then get a standard topcoat pattern, and take these sewing tips from experts at your local sewing center.

Before starting to cut your fabric, check the pattern for correct fit and make alterations right on the tissue pattern. Remember to duplicate alterations on the lining.

Zigzag stitching will help in the construction of the coat. For example, if you use a non-woven interfacing, the darts may be shaped without bulk if zigzag stitching is used. Cut out dart along markings. Pin edges together and back with muslin. Stitch raw edges together with a zigzag stitch, backstitching at both ends. On coat and lining make regular darts.

If you make stitched buttonholes, remember to adjust the satin stitch according to the weight of your fabric. Use the buttonhole attachment for your straight-needle sewing machine, or a close satin stitch on your slant-needle automatic machine.

To make a neat hem finish, use the automatic blind stitch attachment on both lining and coat. There's a new cording foot, too, which makes it easy to stitch close to cording, if you should desire this type of color accent on your coat.

If you have a little fabric left over, make a matching beret or scarf.

When the coat is completed, your dry-cleaner will give it a water-repellent finish for a small charge. Or if you prefer to treat your own coat, you can now buy a spray can of water-repellent liquid. Be sure to follow directions carefully.

After the coat is rain-proofed, it will be a gay and practical topper for April showers, and will serve as an all-purpose coat all summer long.

Basilio, Sugar Both Eager For Match

Champion Rated 8-5 Favorite To Defeat Ex-Champ Robinson

CHICAGO (AP) — Carmen Basilio and Sugar Ray Robinson, both having reached a fine edge for their middleweight championship battle, are eagerly awaiting Tuesday night's opening bell.

Basilio, who dethroned Robinson in New York last fall, appeared tense but confident. The champion concluded his sparring sessions Thursday and has been doing little except for loosening up exercises. Basilio, still an 8-5 favorite, is expected to weigh around 155½, far below the 160-pound limit.

Robinson boxed three rounds Sunday ending his heavy workouts. Sugar Ray, who is seeking to win the middleweight title a fifth time, cut short rumors that he might have trouble making the weight.

"I won't have any trouble making the weight," said Robinson with an apologetic smile. "No trouble at all," retorted manager George Gainford. "He was just a little over 161 before Sunday's workout and he knocked off about a pound and a half in a heavy workout."

After making the Tuesday 160-pound weight, it is possible that Robinson will put on a couple of pounds with a good meal and this could give the Sugar Man nearly a nine pound edge.

Basilio, however, has youth in his favor. The champion at 30 is seven years younger than the challenger.

The scheduled 15-round bout in Chicago Stadium will begin at 10 p.m. CST and will be scored on a five point must system. The winner of a round gets five points and the loser any lesser number.

The fight will be broadcast nationally by CBS and will be seen on closed circuit television in 140 cities and 38 states, Canada and the district of Columbia. Chicago and a 100-mile radius will be blacked out on television but will be included in the radio broadcast.

The promoting International Boxing Club expects a crowd of about 20,000 and a record indoor gate of about $450,000.

East Tech High Still Celebrating

CLEVELAND (AP) — A special assembly at East Tech High School today continued a celebration that began Sunday in Cleveland's Union Terminal.

The reason, of course, is East Tech's Class AA basketball triumph at Columbus last weekend. Tech downed Columbus North 50-48 to bring Cleveland its first Class AA state title.

Two bands and 1,000 cheering fans, all trying to drown each other out, met the Scarabs at the station Sunday, and an hour-long parade by 25 cars followed.

He Hitchhikes In Celebration

WOOSTER (AP) — A hitchhiker was among 500 fans welcoming home the new Class A Ohio high school basketball champions, the Northwestern Huskies.

He's Roy Bates, Northwestern High School's athletic director. Bates said he left Columbus at 6 a. m. Sunday and hitchhiked to his home near here. He promised to do it if Northwestern won the Class A title, he said, and went through with it despite the team's efforts to talk him out of it.

Lopez Hoping for Dividends From $25,000 First Baseman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Al Lopez is hoping the Chicago White Sox finally will get some dividends on the $25,000 they invested in first baseman Ron Jackson in 1954.

That year, the Sox snapped the 6-foot-7 Jackson off the Western Michigan campus. They've been sitting back waiting for something to happen since.

In 1955, he got in 40 games and hit a paltry .203. In 1956 he appeared in 22 games and hit .214. He spent last year with Indianapolis and hit .310 with 21 home runs and 102 RBIs. He also struck out 110 times, high for the American Assn.

But Lopez and the rest of the Sox brass think Jackson may have arrived.

The Sox liked the Cincinnati Redlegs 14-5 at Tampa Friday and Jackson clouted two home runs, each good for three runs. Tito Francona also drove in half a dozen runs on four singles.

That the teams are beginning to get to the shakedown stage is indicated by the fact that both Lew Burdette, who won three games in last year's World Series, and Bob Lemon, who had not been to the mound since last August, tested their arms.

Burdette went three innings for Milwaukee in the Braves' 4-0 shutout over the Pittsburgh Pirates and didn't permit a batter to reach base. He also doubled home the first run.

Lemon, who underwent an elbow operation last November, went two innings for the Cleveland Indians B team, which turned back the Chicago Cubs' B squad 10-1.

He was nicked for an unearned run on three hits and reported his arm felt fine.

In other action, the Cubs' regulars defeated the Indians 10-8 at Tucson; the San Francisco Giants topped the Baltimore Orioles 8-5 at Phoenix; the New York Yankees overpowered the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-6 at Miami; the Kansas City A's splattered the Washington Senators, 7-1 at Orlando; the Detroit Tigers whitewashed the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 at St. Petersburg, and the Boston Red Sox nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 5-3 at Clearwater.

Rookie center fielder Don Tausig broke a tie with Baltimore when he doubled with the bases loaded in the eighth, breaking a 5-all tie and giving the Giants their triumph.

The Yanks collected five runs in the eighth inning, four on Bill Skowron's grand slam home run, to whip the Dodgers.

800 Hometown Fans Greet Defeated Dixie

DAYTON (AP) — Dixie High School, surprised 69-55 by Northwestern in the semifinals of the Class A Ohio high school basketball tournament, got another surprise Sunday — a pleasant one.

Some 800 fans greeted the team on its return from Columbus, congregating at the school, which is located on U. S. 35 between near-by Johnsville and New Lebanon.

Middletown Warning: 'We Will Be Back!'

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — "We will be back," Coach Paul Walker promised Middletown High School fans after an estimated 10,000 turned out along the route of a five-mile-long motorcade Sunday.

Middletown's Middies were defeated in their bid for a third straight Class AA state basketball championship Friday night in Columbus. Columbus North edged the Middies 63-62.

Temple Cage Star Shines in Classic

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gud Rodgers, a little man as basketball players go, stood out among the East-West stars Sunday.

The Temple All-America, a six-footer, played only 21 minutes but he scored 17 points in a 71-66 victory for the East over the West in the seventh annual Shrine All-Star benefit contest.

Another star for Temple Coach Harry Litwack's East team was Archie Dees of Indiana, who scored 13 points.

Gahanna Stops DeMolay Five

Circleville Chapter DeMolay causers dropped a close 58-51 decision to Gahanna Merchants yesterday at the local armory.

Circleville held a 28-26 halftime lead and a 39-37 margin at the three quarter mark but couldn't ward off a Gahanna rally in the last frame.

Pete Martin earned scoring honors for the day with 25 points on 11 buckets and three foul shots. Hoover added 12.

Brown was high for Gahanna with 18 markers and Jakeway collected 16.

The local chapter is scheduled to meet the same Gahanna team next Sunday at the armory.

Fair Weather Friends Flock To Hail Xavier

CINCINNATI (AP) — Only two fans saw them off 10 days ago.

They were pelted with derisive snowballs by their classmates.

But the basketball team of Xavier University found things a lot different when they returned in triumph from New York Sunday with the National Invitation Tournament championship.

A crowd estimated at up to 10,000 persons stormed the Greater Cincinnati Airport and made things so difficult for officials, there was some doubt the team's plane could land.

The team got a horn-blowing, police-escorted parade from the airport through the streets of Cincinnati to the Xavier campus.

At the campus there was a noisy, cheering reception at the school's fieldhouse.

Even Coach Jim McCafferty, the only one who believed his team could go anywhere at the tournament, said dazedly, "I'm afraid I'll wake up and find out it's all been a dream."

Xavier had left for the tournament with a 15-11 record.

It ran through four upsets, winning the championship Saturday with a 78-74 overtime victory over Dayton.

And McCafferty, hanged in effigy twice by students during the team's late season slump, told the welcoming crowd at the university that the victory, "fulfilled my fondest dreams."

AAU Cage Tourney Opens Tonight

DENVER (AP) — The big showdown for the 1958 National AAU basketball championship opens tonight with star-studded teams from Lake Charles, La., and Milwaukee colliding in the opener.

Most of the tourney's 24 clubs will keep a close eye on the Lake Charles outfit which will lay a 19-game victory streak on the line against Milwaukee.

Tonight's other games send Brownstown, Ind., against Amarillo, Tex., and Los Angeles against Cincinnati.

4 Cleveland Tech Starters Available for Another Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland East Tech, Ohio's brand new Class AA high school basketball champion, could have a cage dynasty in the making.

The scintillating Scarabs defeated Zanesville 53-47 and Columbus North 50-48 in a double overtime in the state tourney to run their record to 26-0. And they will have four of their five starters back next year, along with five others from the 12-man squad.

The four starters awaiting the 1958-59 season contributed 85 of the 103 points scored by the Scarabs in the two tourney tilts. The four comprise probably the best nucleus in the state.

Northwestern of Wayne County, which won the Class A crown with a 29-0 record to give Northeastern Ohio its first double victory since 1939, has only two of its starting quintet available for next season.

The Huskies became the fifth unbeaten team, and the first northeastern district representative since Columbiana in 1947, to climb on the Class A throne.

Northwestern, tall and fast, triumphed 60-56 over unbeaten Bucyrus Holmes-Liberty Saturday in the title tilt, after disposing of Dixie's 27-game winners in the semi-finals, 69-55.

With East Tech and Northwestern moving into the king row, the state boasted two unbeaten champions for the first time in 36 years of tournament play. It was also the first tourney in which seven of the eight finalists were undefeated.

Columbus North was only two seconds away from the Class AA championship in its first year under Coach Frank Truitt, but a 40-foot jump shot by East Tech's Jim Stone tied it at 48-48. No one scored in the first overtime, but in the sudden death phase Capt. Gerald Warfield, only senior on the floor for the Scarabs—and the smallest player—dunked the winning two-pointer on a jump shot from the side.

It was a fitting farewell for the 150-pound 5-10 playmaker, giving the city of Cleveland its first cage championship in history.

The losing finalists in each division had plenty to crow about, too. Columbus North had ousted Middletown 63-62 in the semi-finals, halting the Middies' two-year championship reign, stopping their winning streak at 76, and causing three-time all-Ohio Jerry Lucas to play in the first losing game of his career.

Lucas, with a 25-point splurge, had the biggest single-game score of the tournament, and ran his 25-game tally for the year to 800. Bucyrus Holmes-Liberty, its victory string halted at 25 in the finale, had the most prolific scorers in Class A in Don and Jerry Schiefer, red-haired brothers who wear spectacles. Don scored 42 points and Jerry 38 in the two games, while Northwestern's No. 1 man, Dean Cahene, finished third with 33.

Jack Landes of Columbus North scored 40 in two games to top the Class AA contingent, with teammate Eddie Clark and Jim Stone of East Tech deadlocking for second with 30.

The state's basketball coaches, meeting over the weekend, came up with their usual suggestion that eight teams in each division, instead of four, be sent to future state tournaments. Another suggestion was that the site of the playoffs be shifted around the state.

But the state board of control is expected to frown on both suggestions. The current contests attracted 337,322 fans, 738 over last year's record. Cincinnati's best crowd, in 1953, totaled 38,125, while Cleveland's top, in 1956, was 44,528.

STOCKER STEERS AND HEIFERS market active with a group of good steers selling for $28.60 top and consigned by Alva Hoffman.

VEAL CALVES 58 head on the market selling from $34.00 down; head calves $28.00 down.

HOGS

HOG receipts totaled 800 head and the market closed for the week at $22.00. SOWS sold from $20.00 down and BOARS $15.00 down to $14.00.

PLEASE DELIVER YOUR HOGS EARLY IN THE MORNING — any day — For that market prediction for the day, call after 9:00 A.M. or tune in on WRFD Radio for the latest market information. Hogs delivered after 2:30 P.M. will be weighed and held for next days market.

ATTENTION MR. FARMER:

Put yourself in the buyer's position and ask yourself this question "Would I like to pay top dollar for cattle that are full?" When an animal enters the Ring, the buyer has to picture in his mind what it will dress and bid according to condition. If a steer or heifer comes thru full, you as the consignors, might take a cut of $2.00 to $3.00. Otherwise if you had taken your cattle off feed 12 hours, which is the recommended time, you would be dollars ahead. Your cooperation will help maintain our high sale average. You can't fool the buyers!

CINCINNATI (AP) — Only two fans saw them off 10 days ago.

They were pelted with derisive snowballs by their classmates.

But the basketball team of Xavier University found things a lot different when they returned in triumph from New York Sunday with the National Invitation Tournament championship.

A crowd estimated at up to 10,000 persons stormed the Greater Cincinnati Airport and made things so difficult for officials, there was some doubt the team's plane could land.

The team got a horn-blowing, police-escorted parade from the airport through the streets of Cincinnati to the Xavier campus.

At the campus there was a noisy, cheering reception at the school's fieldhouse.

Even Coach Jim McCafferty, the only one who believed his team could go anywhere at the tournament, said dazedly, "I'm afraid I'll wake up and find out it's all been a dream."

Xavier had left for the tournament with a 15-11 record.

It ran through four upsets, winning the championship Saturday with a 78-74 overtime victory over Dayton.

And McCafferty, hanged in effigy twice by students during the team's late season slump, told the welcoming crowd at the university that the victory, "fulfilled my fondest dreams."

AAU Cage Tourney Opens Tonight

DENVER (AP) — The big showdown for the 1958 National AAU basketball championship opens tonight with star-studded teams from Lake Charles, La., and Milwaukee colliding in the opener.

Most of the tourney's 24 clubs will keep a close eye on the Lake Charles outfit which will lay a 19-game victory streak on the line against Milwaukee.

Tonight's other games send Brownstown, Ind., against Amarillo, Tex., and Los Angeles against Cincinnati.

4 Cleveland Tech Starters Available for Another Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland East Tech, Ohio's brand new Class AA high school basketball champion, could have a cage dynasty in the making.

The scintillating Scarabs defeated Zanesville 53-47 and Columbus North 50-48 in a double overtime in the state tourney to run their record to 26-0. And they will have four of their five starters back next year, along with five others from the 12-man squad.

The four starters awaiting the 1958-59 season contributed 85 of the 103 points scored by the Scarabs in the two tourney tilts. The four comprise probably the best nucleus in the state.

Northwestern of Wayne County, which won the Class A crown with a 29-0 record to give Northeastern Ohio its first double victory since 1939, has only two of its starting quintet available for next season.

The Huskies became the fifth unbeaten team, and the first northeastern district representative since Columbiana in 1947, to climb on the Class A throne.

Northwestern, tall and fast, triumphed 60-56 over unbeaten Bucyrus Holmes-Liberty Saturday in the title tilt, after disposing of Dixie's 27-game winners in the semi-finals, 69-55.

With East Tech and Northwestern moving into the king row, the state boasted two unbeaten champions for the first time in 36 years of tournament play. It was also the first tourney in which seven of the eight finalists were undefeated.

Columbus North was only two seconds away from the Class AA championship in its first year under Coach Frank Truitt, but a 40-foot jump shot by East Tech's Jim Stone tied it at 48-48. No one scored in the first overtime, but in the sudden death phase Capt. Gerald Warfield, only senior on the floor for the Scarabs—and the smallest player—dunked the winning two-pointer on a jump shot from the side.

It was a fitting farewell for the 150-pound 5-10 playmaker, giving the city of Cleveland its first cage championship in history.

The losing finalists in each division had plenty to crow about, too. Columbus North had ousted Middletown 63-62 in the semi-finals, halting the Middies' two-year championship reign, stopping their winning streak at 76, and causing three-time all-Ohio Jerry Lucas to play in the first losing game of his career.

Lucas, with a 25-point spurge, had the biggest single-game score of the tournament, and ran his 25-game total for the year to 800. Bucyrus Holmes-Liberty, its victory string halted at 25 in the finale, had the most prolific scorers in Class A in Don and Jerry Schiefer, red-haired brothers who wear spectacles. Don scored 42 points and Jerry 38 in the two games, while Northwestern's No. 1 man, Dean Cahene, finished third with 33.

Jack Landes of Columbus North scored 40 in two games to top the Class AA contingent, with teammate Eddie Clark and Jim Stone of East Tech deadlocking for second with 30.

The state's basketball coaches, meeting over the weekend, came up with their usual suggestion that eight teams in each division, instead of four, be sent to future state tournaments. Another suggestion was that the site of the playoffs be shifted around the state.

But the state board of control is expected to frown on both suggestions. The current contests attracted 537,332 fans, 738 over last year's record. Cincinnati's best crowd, in 1953, totaled 38,125, while Cleveland's top, in 1956, was 44,528.

Report Of Pickaway Livestock COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION SALE MARCH 19, 1958

At the Circleville Market Wednesday, receipts on cattle were lower but the market was considerably stronger. There were 230 head of butcher cattle on sale with a few prime offerings bringing an outside top of $30.40 which is the highest price paid here during the past year. The top load and top selling steer was consigned by Kenneth Shepler, one of Pickaway County's well-known feeders. His load averaging 1122 pounds averaged $28.79; Other choice loads were: J. B. Stevenson, average $27.22; John Gifford & Sons, $26.83; C. P. Corkwell, $26.67; Lee Reigel, $26.11; C. D. Bennett, $25.75; Charles Morris, $25.37; W. J. Barthelmas, $25.27; Howard Rhoads, Jr., $25.16; Carroll Reid, $22.45; Rodocker Bros. $24.25; John Dunlap, $22.45. In the heifer division, Watt & Schooley, sold the top load at $24.72; and John Gifford averaged $23.80 and sold the top heifer at $26.50.

COWS market strong selling from $20.30 down with an outside top of $22.40.

BULLS market $1.00 to $2.00 higher selling from $22.30 down; Stock bulls, $25.50 down.

STOCKER STEERS AND HEIFERS market active with a group of good steers selling for $28.60 top and consigned by Alva Hoffman.

VEAL CALVES 58 head on the market selling from $34.00 down; head calves $28.00 down.

HOGS

HOG receipts totaled 800 head and the market closed for the week at $22.00. SOWS sold from $20.00 down and BOARS $15.00 down to $14.00.

PLEASE DELIVER YOUR HOGS EARLY IN THE MORNING — any day — For that market prediction for the day, call after 9:00 A.M. or tune in on WRFD Radio for the latest market information. Hogs delivered after 2:30 P.M. will be weighed and held for next days market.

ATTENTION MR. FARMER:

Put yourself in the buyer's position and ask yourself this question "Would I like to pay top dollar for cattle that are full?" When an animal enters the Ring, the buyer has to picture in his mind what it will dress and bid according to condition. If a steer or heifer comes thru full, you as the consignors, might take a cut of $2.00 to $3.00. Otherwise if you had taken your cattle off feed 12 hours, which is the recommended time, you would be dollars ahead. Your cooperation will help maintain our high sale average. You can't fool the buyers!

Experts Studying Problem Of Giving Aid on Freeway

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mark up one more problem to be solved in the jet age—the case of a motorist stranded on a freeway without gasoline or with an engine breakdown. The Ohio Department of Highways recognized the problem today and announced the search for a solution.

Said Operations Deputy Director L. F. Schaeublin:

"The whole question is a new one on state highways in Ohio. But it will rapidly become critical as the interstate freeway system nears completion, and we want to be ready."

The department said it had already taken two steps. One is appointment of Lou Wilsch, Columbus businessman, to the department's operations division as "motorist service coordinator." The other is a study group, made up of industry and commerce representatives. The group has held one meeting for discussion of the problem.

Wilsch has pointed out that federal regulations prohibit commercial development on interstate rights-of-way. The familiar toll turnpike "service plaza" system, therefore, cannot be used. Gasoline, food, lodging and repairs must be sought on intersecting routes or in nearby cities and towns.

The study group's first session was devoted to discussing the means by which these services could best be provided to the benefit of both motorist and business enterprise.

Wilsch said he considered of primary importance the development of a workable system for emergency service. On the Ohio Turnpike, he said, one out of every three emergency calls is for engine failure. One out of four is for "out of gas."

He noted that Charles M. Noble, the state's highway chief, advocates some type of universally recognized distress signal for use by motorist stranded anywhere on the nation's highways. One member of the study group has suggested the possibility of electronic signal devices placed at intervals along the more isolated stretches of freeway.

Wilsch told of the Ohio Turnpike's early days when an occasional motorist was stranded for hours along the roadside. This, he warned, may be the result of our new freeways, such as the Cincinnati-Conneaut (Ohio 1) road now under construction.

Several proposals have been offered whereby commercial growth could be fostered in the vicinity of interchanges to serve the needs of the traveling public. But Schaeublin emphasized the communities should become aware that "promiscuous" business development along intersecting routes is both unsightly and hazardous to the motorist.

"A review of zoning provisions may be necessary by some communities," he said, "to insure against uncontrolled roadside 'ribbon' development."

A number of measures could be carried out after a full assessment of motorist needs during action operation of the freeways. Among these are telephones at exit ramps or along the right-of-way, informational bulletin boards at each rest area listing service facilities available in nearby cities and towns, and reflectorized diagrams of approaching interchanges.

A special type of problem may be encountered where in an interstate route intersects an existing controlled access highway. W. R. Hauserman, deputy highway director for Division 3 at Ashland, said that unless special provisions are made, a motorist may have to drive for miles before finding auto service or restaurants.

Scioto KT 35 Holds Annual Inspection

Annual inspection of Scioto Commandery No. 35, Knights Templar, was held here last week.

Preceding the work a turkey dinner was served by ladies of the Circleville Chapter Order of the Eastern Star. There were 83 Sir Knights of Scioto and visiting Sir Knights in attendance.

In addition to the inspecting officer Sir Knight John W. Rutchow, Eminent Grand Warden, the following officers of the Grand Commandery were present: Sir Knight Russell Davis, RE grand commander; Sir Knight Homer C. Heiser, VE deputy grand commander; Sir Knight Vernon C. Maxwell, PGC.

The Staff of Sir Kt. Rutchow was presented to Sir Kt. Guy O. Sark, Eminent commander of Scioto Commandery, by Sir Kt. Ralph Templin, PC of Chillicothe No. 8 as the acting Grand Warden. It consisted of four Em. commanders, three generalissimo's, two captain general's and 10 past commanders representing the following Commanderies: Mt. Vernon No. 1, Columbus No. 2, Chillicothe No. 8, Calvary No. 13, Portsmouth No. 15, Athens No. 15, Ohio Valley No. 24, Pomeroy, Garfield No. 28, Washington C. Mrs. Painter Is Runner-Up In Contest

Mrs. Doyle R. Painter of 1010 Lynwood Avenue was one of the runners-up in the "Mrs. America" district cook-off at Athens Friday. The district title was won by Mrs. James R. Sheets of Harrisonville. She is the mother of three children. She won an automatic gas range and a chance to compete for the "Mrs. Ohio" title in Columbus, April 9 and 10.

Four homemakers from Athens and nearby communities participated in the district contest. They prepared a main course under the watchful eyes of three judges.

Mrs. Painter, who recently was selected "Mrs. Circleville", prepared a favorite main dish using ham as a basic ingredient.

She received West Bend Futura cooking ware as a prize for being runner-up.

Young Ladies Needed for WAF Band

Young women musicians are urgently needed to fill vacancies in the U. S. Air Force WAF Band according to Sgt. Joe E. Stapleton Jr., local Air Force representative.

High school or college women between the ages of 18 and 34 who can play the equivalent of 1st chair position in a Class A high school band, may contact Sgt. Stapleton for information concerning a career with the Air Force WAF Band.

World wide travel, adventure and full time playing experience, belong to the members of this unique musical organization. Spending four-fifths of its time on tour in Major Cities of the United States, the band often appears on television and radio. Invitations have been received from Puerto Rico, Hawaii, and Alaska, and band members are looking forward to a tour of Europe and the Far East.

Auditions and screening tests can be arranged through Sgt. Stapleton with no obligations to the applicant. If she qualifies, the band aspirant will receive a certificate of acceptance which clears the way to enter the band.

Among the outstanding functions for which the band has performed, are the Inaugural Parade for President Eisenhower, The National Convention of the American Legion, and the State Fairs of California and Texas.

Although it can perform as a marching unit, the band is better known for its concert repertoire, ranging from Tchaikovsky's Sixth to music with a "Boogie" beat.

Sgt. Stapleton can be contacted at the local VFW each Thursday, from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. or at 41½ S. Paint St., Chillicothe, telephone Prospect 4-2246.

OHIO OUTDOORS

from THE OHIO DIVISION OF WILDLIFE

A new lake is forming in Ohio. Hayden Olds, Chief of the Ohio Wildlife Division, said the dam at Clark County Lake is finished and the valve gates have been closed. "Water is flowing into the lake site now," Olds said. When the water reaches pool level the lake will be about 100 acres in size, he added.

The wildlife division will stock the lake this spring with 11,000 adult bluegills, 2,500 adult white crappies and 11,000 large mouth bass fingerlings. Fish management technicians said they believe the lake will provide good fishing this year.

Clark County Lake was financed with funds derived from the sale of fishing and hunting licenses and Federal money obtained from a 10 per cent excise tax on fishing tackle, collected by the Federal government through the Dingell-Johnson Act.

COST of acquiring the 288 acre lake site was $100,000. Slightly less than $140,000 was spent in constructing the dam and spillway. State land adjoining the lake will serve as a public hunting area this fall.

The new lake lies eight miles east of Springfield and two miles northwest of New Vienna just off U. S. Route 40.

Reeves Pheasants, the birds the Ohio Wildlife Division hopes to establish in the southern part of the state, will be stocked in Ohio under the 50-50 pheasant program for the first time this year.

"Under the program," as noted by Bill Hendershot, the division's game management supervisor, "the state rears and turns over to sportsmen's organizations six week-old birds that are reared by the sportsmen until the pheasants are old enough to release at 8-10 weeks of age."

Reeves pheasants are large, colorful birds like the ring-neck pheasant. They are an exotic species that inhabit the hilly and wooded country in China, similar to the ungulated region of Ohio.

Rupp Gives No Thought To Retiring

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — No, friends, Adolph Rupp's not planning to retire as Kentucky's basketball coach just because he got that "next" National Collegiate title he begrudgingly vowed to get six years ago.

For one thing, Rupp is a healthy vigorous 56.

"Hell, I'm as young as you guys," he blurted out when the question of retirement was asked. For another, time apparently has healed the hurt he felt when the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. suspended the Wildcats from competition for the full 1952-53 season as an aftermath of the infamous basketball scandals.

Rupp now says he was misquoted in reported statements that received wide circulation at the time. In fact, after whipping Seattle 84-72 for his fourth national championship Saturday night, he praised the NCAA.

"They've treated me and Kentucky very well," he said.

He did, however, vow back in 1952 to bring his Wildcats back to the top of the nation's basketball powers before calling it a career. Now he has done it with a club he didn't think had much of a chance two weeks ago.

Basilio and Robinson received awards Sunday night at the fifth annual Chicago Boxing Writers and Broadcasters Assn. dinner.

Basilio was named the fighter of the year and Robinson received the most meritorious competitor award.

A poll of sports writers who will cover the middleweight title fight Tuesday night give Basilio a big edge to defeat Robinson.

Of 34 writers polled by the Associated Press, 21 picked Basilio to win.

Golden Glover Seeks 17th Win

NEW YORK — Don Hodge, the Olympic heavyweight wrestler turned boxer, aims to stretch his undefeated streak to 17 tonight when he meets Washington's confident Charley Hood in the feature fight of the 31st annual inter-city Golden Gloves championships at Madison Square Garden.

Hodge, 25, 193, of Wichita, Kan., has won 11 bouts by knockouts and five by decision since he donned the gloves five months ago. He will carry the colors of the Chicago-Western sq. d.

"I can take him," said Hood, 185, a 22-year-old sociology student at Howard University.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt — Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, is men's singles champion of Alexandria International Tennis tournament. He defeated Orlan Garrido of Cuba 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

MacKay is also tournament mixed doubles champ. He a Dorothy Head Knobe of Fort Hills, N. Y., won it from Nico Pietrangeli of Italy and Egypt Miss Rasson.

The Michigan State baseball team will have plenty of local interest this season. Three members of the squad are from Lansing outfielders Dean Look and John Carter and pitcher Larry Foster.

Experts Studying Problem Of Giving Aid on Freeway

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mark up one more problem to be solved in the jet age—the case of a motorist stranded on a freeway without gasoline or with an engine breakdown.

The Ohio Department of Highways recognized the problem today and announced the search for a solution.

Said Operations Deputy Director L. F. Schaublin:

"The whole question is a new one on state highways in Ohio. But it will rapidly become critical as the interstate freeway system nears completion, and we want to be ready."

The department said it had already taken two steps. One is appointment of Lou Wilsch, Columbus businessman, to the department's operations division as "motorist-service coordinator." The other is a study group, made up of industry and commerce representatives. The group has held one meeting for discussion of the problem.

Wilsch has pointed out that federal regulations prohibit commercial development on interstate rights-of-way. The familiar toll turnpike "service plaza" system, therefore, cannot be used. Gasoline, food, lodging and repairs must be sought on intersecting routes or in nearby cities and towns.

The study group's first session was devoted to discussing the means by which these services could best be provided to the benefit of both motorist and business enterprise.

Wilsch said he considered of primary importance the development of a workable system for emergency service. On the Ohio Turnpike, he said, one out of every three emergency calls is for engine failure. One out of four is for "out of gas."

He noted that Charles M. Noble, the state's highway chief, advocates some type of universally recognized distress signal for use by motorists stranded anywhere on the nation's highways. One member of the study group has suggested the possibility of electronic signal devices placed at intervals along the more isolated stretches of freeway.

Wilsch told of the Ohio Turnpike's early days when an occasional motorist was stranded for hours along the roadside. This, he warned, may be the result of our new freeways, such as the Cincinnati-Conneaut (Ohio 1) road now under construction.

Several proposals have been offered whereby commercial growth could be fostered in the vicinity of interchanges to serve the needs of the traveling public. But Schaublin emphasized the communities should become aware that "promiscuous" business development along intersecting routes is both unsightly and hazardous to the motorist.

A review of zoning provisions may be necessary by some communities," he said, "to insure against uncontrolled roadside 'ribbon' development."

A number of measures could be carried out after a full assessment of motorist needs during action operation of the freeways. Among these are telephones at exit ramps or along the right-of-way, informational bulletin boards at each rest area listing service facilities available in nearby cities and towns, and reflectorized diagrams of approaching interchanges.

A special type of problem may be encountered where an interstate route intersects an existing controlled access highway. W. R. Hauserman, deputy highway director for Division 3 at Ashland, said that unless special provisions are made, a motorist may have to drive for miles before finding auto service or restaurants.

Young Ladies Needed for WAF Band

Young women musicians are urgently needed to fill vacancies in the U. S. Air Force WAF Band according to Sgt. Joe E. Stapleton Jr., local Air Force representative.

High school or college women between the ages of 18 and 34 who can play the equivalent of 1st chair position in a Class A high school band, may contact Sgt. Stapleton for information concerning a career with the Air Force WAF Band.

World wide travel, adventure and full time playing experience, belong to the members of this unique musical organization. Spending four-fifths of its time on tour in Major Cities of the United States, the band often appears on television and radio. Invitations have been received from Puerto Rico, Hawaii, and Alaska, and band members are looking forward to a tour of Europe and the Far East.

Auditions and screening tests can be arranged through Sgt. Stapleton with no obligations to the applicant. If she qualifies, the band aspirant will receive a certificate of acceptance which clears the way to enter the band.

AMONG the outstanding functions for which the band has performed, are the Inaugural Parade for President Eisenhower, The National Convention of the American Legion, and the State Fairs of California and Texas.

Although it can perform as a marching unit, the band is better known for its concert repertoire, ranging from Tchaikovsky's Sixth to music with a "Boogie" beat.

Sgt. Stapleton can be contacted at the local VFW each Thursday, from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. or at 41½ S. Paint St., Chillicothe, telephone Prospect 4-2246.
